

My Wishes for Each of You Are

May you wake up each day and know you will create paradise, for just today.

May you listen to the whisper of your inner voice.

May you reach out and touch all the beauty that surrounds you.

May you delight in your ability to be swept away by laughter.

May you evoke the courage to write your own story.

May you follow the unfolding path of your sacred soul.

Journey.

Author: Person with Lived Experience